IS YOUR MONEY BEING SPENT ARBITRARILY?

There are a number of people at State who are "hopping mad," and for good reason. An 11 per cent hole was knocked in their carefully planned 1953-54 budget requests by the ASSFSC Board of Control last week, consisting of a narrow quorum.

This was done in a comparatively short time, approximately one hour, in view of the other budget slashing sessions which lasted on the average of three hours. A minimum quorum was in attendance during the two crucial meetings, at which members casually strolled in and out of the room, leaving the board frequently minus a quorum.

The apparent disinterest of the board, which is composed of elected and appointed representatives, was noted in the glaring scarcity of members present at the meeting. Usually the same faces were conspicuously absent.

It was sometimes necessary to wait an hour for a tardy quorum to appear; yet this board was responsible for the disposition of $55,717.20 of the Associated Students' funds.

In these sessions a great deal of haggling took place over small incidental items. However, without the bat of an eye, $1,000 was cut from the strained Creative Arts Department's budget request two weeks ago.

Again, last week with a minimum struggle, the problem of the $2,354 remaining to be slashed from the general budget was disposed of neatly by an over-all 11 per cent cut, affecting all budgets except those already cut, and static budgets.

Committees, which are the most vital working function of any board, were ignored. No committees were appointed to explore possible alternatives to prevent the decrease. One committee was appointed before the slashing began, but very little was accomplished. Since that time no committees have functioned. None were appointed to contact groups affected by the cut, which could possibly have resulted in a fairer method of reducing expenses.

Board member Jack Anderson argued, "Why do we get arbitrary all of a sudden now when in previous meetings we've taken each budget apart carefully to see if it could be cut . . . We aren't even giving these people a chance to defend themselves against the cut."

Alternative solutions to the over-all slash were not introduced or mentioned by the board. One neglected alternative would be that of raising the price of the student body card for one semester (it can be raised to $20 per year). This would eliminate the deficit and give the students much more than the dollar's worth of activities, entertainment, and morale.

A half-hearted attempt was made to rework each request item by item until it was sufficiently pared. However, the board soon lapsed into its now familiar indolence and the method failed.

With apologies to those members (both regular and ex-officio) who faithfully attended the meetings with the interest of the students in mind, we recommend to the others that they remove the lead from their collective trousers and conscientiously perform the functions entrusted to them by the students of our college.

Board Votes Budget Slash

Healy Suggests, Board Accepts, Over-All Cut As Solution to Associated Students' Money Problem

After cutting the Insurance allocation by $300, the Board of Control saw last Thursday only one solution to the money problem: an over-all cut of 11 per cent.

Jack Healy, administrator of student affairs, announced that the board had "cut already where we felt it wouldn't hurt anybody too much" and said that Business Manager Bill Spry and he had studied the budget to see who "we felt could be cut," and applied 11 per cent to them.

"WHY GET ARBITRARY?"

The only vocal dissent came from board member Jack Anderson, who asked "Why get arbitrary all of a sudden when in previous meetings we've taken each budget apart to see who really could be cut, and by how much?"

He added that the board was not giving each department a fair chance to defend itself.

After passing the over-all cut, the board apparently agreed with Anderson, voted to reconsider the entire budget. Moments later, however, they once more passed the 11 per cent cuts.

RECEIVING CUTS

The 11 per cent reduction applies to the budgets of the Activities Committee, the Overseas Counsel, the W.A.A., the Board of Directors, Health and Accident, Deputations, Alligator, Darkroom, Music Federation, Block S, Publicity and Public Relations, Legal and Audit, Depreciation, Miscellaneous, Repairs and Maintenance, the Print Shop, the Franciscan, and the Golden Gater.

A $100 budget for "other publications" was entirely killed.

Escaping the cuts were such budgets as the Cafeteria, which has strict budget lines, men's athletics, which is budgeted on the basis of 37½ per cent of the entire budget, the Creative Arts Department and Speakers' Bureau, each of whom has already received a $1000 cut.

The cut leaves the Associated Students with a $1500 contingency fund for the year.

Spike Jones Show At Curran Theatre

Spike Jones' "New Musical Insanities of 1954" is now at the Curran theatre on Geary street, for a three weeks' run. It is a two-act, two and a half hour revue to be staged nightly.

The show has played in Las Vegas, Nevada, seven times in four years and the California State Fair, five times in three years. From the Curran it jumps to New York City. Seats are now on sale at the Curran box office and mail orders are being accepted.

Model UN Delegate Applications Open

Applications are now being accepted for S.F. State delegates to the 1954 Model United Nations conference, to be held this year at Pepperdine.

The entire school is welcome to apply, according to Sami Judah, president of the International Relations Club, sponsors of the State delegation. Applications must be filed by the end of the month in the office of Activities Counselor Jean Bunnell.

"Applicants must have a major interest in Political Science and International Relations, and must be willing to work in preparation for the conference," Judah added.

Last year the State delegation, headed by Joe de Victoria, won fourth prize award for representation of a small nation, Pakistan.

State is now being considered for the conference site for the 1955 Model U.N.

Delegates to the 1954 conference, which will be held next spring, are to be chosen by a committee consisting of Judah, Miss Bunnell, and Dr. Alfred Fisk, professor of philosophy.

Applications are now available in Miss Bunnell's office, Adm. 168.

Student Directory Publication Soon

A student directory, listing names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all regular students at S.F. State, will be published by a partnership including three State students for free distribution early next spring.

Names, departments, and office numbers of faculty, administration and staff will also be included in the book.

Planned as a one-hundred page volume financed solely through advertising, the publishers have agreed to give the Associated Students full control on copy and distribution, in return for the right to publish 5,000 copies of the book.

Also included within the directory will be school yells, songs, athletic schedules, maps of both campuses, and similar material.

Frosh Camp Under Fire As 'Undemocratic Activity'

Henderson, Col. McCarthy Cite Success of Previous Camps

By CLAUDE CROWNOVER

Frosh Camp caused a furor in the Orientation Evaluation committee meeting last Wednesday night, stretching the discussion out for almost four hours.

In a surprise move, Dr. Brink raised the question whether Frosh Camp should be eliminated or retained in the over-all Orientation program each semester.

The argument presented by Dr. Brink, faculty sponsor of Frosh Camp, was that the present program did not integrate all of the freshman students into the orientation program but only selected a small minority upon which the creative talents of the program were showered.

The program of Frosh Camp in effect, then, constituted an undemocratic activity by setting off a special group from the main body of incoming freshmen.

PRINCIPLES VIOLATED?

At this juncture, Dr. Loomis, also a faculty sponsor of Frosh Camp, framed the question, "Does Frosh Camp still keep within the over-all program of the college's aims, and does this also violate the democratic principles of State College"?

Another point emphasized by Dr. Loomis was how could the program be justified, if the representation of students chosen was selective, not open to everyone.

Endeavoring to counter this argument, Col. McCarthy, a third sponsor of Frosh Camp, told the committee members that, "Success of the past two Frosh Camps has been responsible for bringing forth many new leaders in campus activities."

CAMPUS LIFE

Adding further to his statement, Col. McCarthy said that the general Orientation program, including Frosh Camp, has functioned with the purpose in mind of helping the new students fit themselves into the life of the campus more quickly. "Frosh Camp," he replied, "has served to accomplish this end better than any other means."

Still left unanswered at the close of the evaluation committee hearing was the question of whether or not Frosh Camp should be eliminated.

NEW PARKING RULES EFFECTIVE MONDAY

The following revisions in campus parking regulations will go into effect on Monday, October 26, 1953.

1. The parking lot on Holloway avenue is to be used by students only. No student parking stickers will be required. Parking in this area will be on a first come basis.

2. Campus parking areas, other than the one on Holloway avenue for student use exclusively, are to be used only by faculty, staff and administrative officers who obtain faculty parking stickers.

3. The foregoing regulations will be in effect until the hour of 5 p.m. on each week day, Monday through Friday.

4. The road through the housing area from Tapia Drive is not a through street. Do not enter the campus by this route.

'The Seagull' Ends Saturday Night

San Francisco State College closes its first production of the season, Anton Chekhov's "The Seagull," tomorrow night after a four night run.

Directed by graduate student Dion Chesse, the tragi-comedy has been staged very simply for presentation in Frederic Burk auditorium nightly at 8:30 p.m.

Student tickets at 60c and "generals" at 90c are still available at the Theatre box office (AA 11) on the old campus and in the Student Union between 10 and 12 today, and at the theatre, preceding performances, tonight and tomorrow.

Following on the heels of this production will be the Evening of One-Acts to be presented in Frederic Burk auditorium on November 12, 13, and 14. The plays are "Trifles," directed by Mr. Richard Glyer, "Helena's Husband," under the direction of Mr. Ralph McCormick, and "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" under director Jules Irving.

Mr. Irving is also acting as coordinator for the program. Tickets for this production will be available beginning November 2.

Freshmen Vote for Class Posts Today

Freshman voters will cast their ballots today, in the Women's Gym, to select their class officers for the Fall semester.

Last week's elections ended in victory for Bonne Baltsen, Carol Bondshu and Susan Benjamin as representatives-at-large to the Board of Directors. Class officers ended in a run-off between George Katayama and Frank Williams for the post of frosh president; Robert Hemp and Dawn Yaley, vice-president and Betty Brown and Barbara Swanson, secretary-treasurer.

Upon viewing the election totals, Bert Phillips, president of the Associated Students, "was disappointed with the number of students that failed to vote." Phillips urged all freshmen to vote today in the run-offs.

The polls will remain open until 4 p.m.

Alumni Banquet November 14th

Alumni President Phillip Ryan announced last week that the annual alumni dinner will be held this year in the beautiful new College Union Dining Hall on November 14.

Invitations have been extended to Dr. Paul Leonard, president of the college, and all emeritus faculty.

Tours will be conducted by a group of students in the afternoon preceding the dinner. The tours will begin at 4:30 p.m. and end in time for the dinner which starts at 6 p.m.

Homecoming hits its peak with the football game between the Gators and Santa Barbara College. Kickoff for the game will be 8:15 p.m.

OFFICIAL NOTICES

Today is the deadline for the filing of applications for elementary school student teaching for the spring semester of 1954. Those applying will find forms in Frederic Burk 118 and should address them to Mrs. Della Gillett.

Jobs Available

Education and Psych students note! Jobs paying off in leadership, experience, and in personal satisfaction are available at the Good Samaritan Community Center and Precita Valley Community Club.

The need is for leaders of children's groups either in the afternoons or the evenings. Sports, crafts, story telling or any skills are wanted. There are also desk jobs such as receptionist. For on campus information contact Doris Meek, Recreation Office, T2A (new campus).

Intramural Golf

Golfers, attention. There will be a golf meeting under Dr. Guido de Ghetaldi, State's golf coach, at 2 p.m. next Friday (Oct 31). The meeting will take place in gym 5M, and its purpose will be to greet the new golfers who are interested in playing intramural golf next semester.

Gators Upset Stanford Booters 2-1; Seek Revenge on City College

State's soccer team upset the applecart last Friday evening, as they downed highly touted Stanford Indians 2-1. In beating the Injuns, the Gators put a crimp in Stanford's plans for winning the league crown this year. The Gators also put themselves in a favorable position to romp in as a dark horse.

The contest took place in Stanford stadium, preliminary to the football tussle between Stanford and UCLA. The field was not regulation size or shape, as it was considerably longer and narrower than an official soccer field. Makeshift goals were set up on the football goal posts, and therefore there was six feet less area of scoring territory. These differences, however, did not hamper the Gators.

Although first half of the match was played evenly, Stanford tallying once on a penalty shot by Suarez, who is rated as one of the league's foremost soccer players, held down a 1-0 lead at the half.

Slightly more one-sided during the second half State took the upper hand. Herb Anderson tied the game at 1-1 with a penalty shot, and later in the game Bob Quattrin scored on a long shot from far down the field. Stanford pressed the Gators in the final moments and threatened to score, but their threat never materialized.

Ron Rosenberg, San Francisco's goalie made many valuable saves to aid the cause of the home team. State's freshman center halfback, Gus Portocarrero did a fine job, as did fullback John Barry and halfback Frank Verducci. The wing play of Jim Shettler, and Don Totten was outstanding.

The "B" soccer team played the Stanford "B"'s to a scoreless deadlock. State had numerous chances to score, but they could not capitalize. Robin Childs and Joe Pitruzzello sparked the Purple and Gold.

California's Golden Bears invade San Francisco this Wednesday afternon. Cal was defeated by USF 3-2, last week.

FRANCISCAN DEADLINE

Deadline for organizations to file their requests for space in the 1954 Franciscan has been set at Nov 10th. All groups desiring their pictures in the '54 book must pay $15 for one-half page or $30 for a full page. One full page is the maximum that any group may purchase.

Organizations who do not have space order blanks may obtain them at the Associated Students Business Office, Hut T-1, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Holiday Work Permits Are Out -- Deans' Committee

Work permits for the Christmas holidays will not be issued this year, the Deans committee declared at their first meeting of the semester on October 7, 1953.

This action was taken in view of the fact that a conference of teachers will be held on campus, giving students an extra three days vacation.

The results of the committee's action are as follows:

1. The committee does not feel that it can put the college in the position of giving excuses for non-attendance for reasons of employment at Christmas time.

In effect, the committee said, this would mean the cancellation of instruction time. Therefore, no formal excuses from class work for Christmas holiday employment before December 16 will be issued by the administration.

2. It must be the individual student's responsibility to notify his instructors and to request any necessary make-up work for class absences prior to December 16.

If the instructors concerned are willing to grant special permission for such absences, they are of course entitled to do so; however, it should be remembered that these permissions are to be granted on an individual student-instructor basis, with no official work permits issued from the Student Personnel Division.

3. It is the recommendation of the committee that instructors plan not to schedule tests on Monday and Tuesday, December 14 and December 15—the two days immediately preceding official class dismissal.

Forensic Society Holds Round-Robin Tourney

Last October 13, the Northern California Forensic Association officially got underway with a round-robin tournament held at San Francisco City College. The topic discussed by representatives of the University of San Francisco, San Francisco City College and San Francisco State College, was "Should the United States Adopt a Free Trade Policy?" Although this was supposed to be a debate, it turned out to be a friendly discussion between the respective schools.

This tournament was first a series of eight debates to be held this year. The debates are usually held between three opposing schools. The schools in this association include besides the ones mentioned: COP, Stockton J.C., St. Mary's, University of California, Stanford, Santa Clara and San Jose State.

San Francisco State's team is under the sponsorship of Dr. Wayne Britton. The president of the Speakers Bureau is Chan Meloy.

Following is a partial schedule for the rest of the semester.

Nov. 3—COP-SF State-USF at San Francisco State.

Nov. 21—All the members of the association at San Francisco State.

Dec. 1—City College-SF State-Stanford at Stanford.

Franciscan Offers Cash Prize Award

Guess the score of the San Francisco State-University of Nevada football game and win $10 in cash.

State's yearbook, Franciscan '54, is sponsoring a 'Pigskin Prognostication' contest to promote sales.

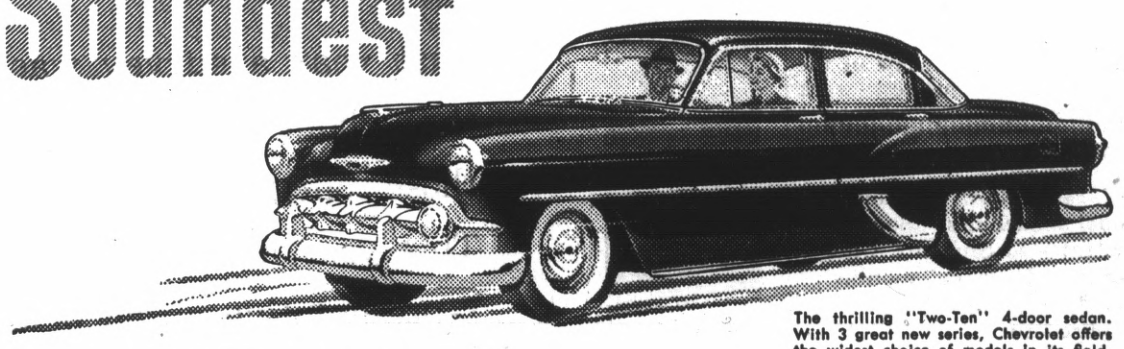

Any State student can participate in the contest. In order to be eligible the student must make a $1 deposit on the purchase of a '54 Franciscan in the Associated Students Business Office, Hut T-1. He will then receive an entry blank. All entries must be completed and turned into the Business Office by Friday, Nov. 6th at 3 p.m.

The person guessing the correct score will receive $10. People with the next three closest guesses will receive free copies of the yearbook.

As of this week Nevada sports an 0-2 win, loss record. Last Friday Fresno State dropped the Wolfpack 47-7. State's gridiron machine sports a 2-1 win, loss slate. The Gators hold wins over Moffett Field and Cal Tech while their only loss was at the hands of Cal Poly.

Boxer-Gridder Seen For New Laurels by Troppman

Take a big heart, a lot of class, an encouraging father, 175 pounds of muscle, mix well, and you get Jerry Harper, State's heir apparent to the 175 pound boxing throne of the Pacific Coast.

This is the same 18 year old sophomore named Harper who plays a whale of a game of center for the Gator football team, and of who Coach Joe Cerducci says, "This kid is really tough and rugged. He's all heart." This is the same man who boxing coach Bob Troppman thinks enough of to predict that he will go ". . . all the way this year and win the Pacfic Coast Intercollegiate Championship at Sacramento next March."

JERRY HARPER

NCAA FINALIST

From there the five foot 11 inch gladiator should move to the N.C.A.A. finals in Pocatello. Idaho. After that, who knows?

Harper is a natural. He has been boxing all his life. His father has helped and encouraged him, and has had some of the best men in the business work with him on his fundamentals. Among the men who have tutored Jerry is Tim Hefernan, well known in local fight circles for his ability as a teacher.

COUNTER-PUNCHER

Jerry is a sharp, clever boxer who takes a punch well and is capable of hurting an opponent with either hand. If the San Francisco born lad has one fault, it is his waiting, counter-punching style. Not that Jerry doesn't do a good job with this style, but in a short collegiate bout which consists of only three two-minute rounds, judges can often be swayed in their voting for the guy who walks in and swings freely, whether he lands punches or not. Many times a clever boxer like Harper catches these wild punches on his arms, shoulders and elbows, but will look like he's taking a beating.

It is for this reason that Troppman is trying to alter Jerry's style and mold him into an aggressive type that walks in and takes charge. This is the type of boxer that wins intercollegiate bouts.

Harper comes from Sacred Heart High of San Francisco, where he made a name for himself by being a two-way, "60 minute man," playing center on offense and backing up the middle of the line defensively. Last year as a freshman, Jerry surprised many an expert by utilizing all of his 175 pounds, extremely light for a lineman, and making the club as a guard.

UNAFFECTED BY RULE

When this season opened up with the new limited substitution rule, Jerry was right at home, and was one of the few men on the State squad who wasn't affected by the new rules.

Intramural Notes

In what may prove to be one of the most interesting programs in State's intramural history, the East Bay A.C. powerhouse, piloted by Harvy Roscelli, looks like a good bet to sweep the All-Sports contest.

Roscelli and Co., however, are no cinches. They will be pressed closely by Roger Martin and his Kappa Omega boys, who may upset the dope and walk away with the "Roses."

This year's intramural program will make full use of the bulletin boards throughout the new campus. All schedules will be posted on the boards. Keep a close tab on these notices. The program will use all of the fine new facilities of the physical recreation plant.

INTRAMURAL LEAGUES

Bob Arata, publicity director of State's intramural program, has released the names of the teams and their managers competing in the Fraternity and Athletic Club League schedules. They are as follows:

Athletic Club Teams Managers

Tee Pee A.C.—Phil Givant.
Oakland A.C.—Ken Knapp
Rock A.C.—Levell Holmes.
East Bay A.C.—H. P. Roscelli.
Transfers A.C.—Edward Murray
P.E. 92'ers—Rich Botello.

Fraternitly League Teams Managers

Delta Phi Gamma—Meredith Grubbe.
Alpha Zet Sigma—Curt Rider.
Sigma Phi Sigma—Clair Parsh
Kappa Omega—Frank Verducci.
R.O.T.C. Aces—Bill Dorffi.
I.A. Forum—Edward Davis.

CAL POLY 46 - GATORS 14

Slaughter on 19th Avenue

A record crowd of 5,000 fans watched San Francisco State absorb its first loss of the '53 football season last Friday night at Cox Stadium.

The Gators were outscored 46 to 14 by a classy Cal Poly eleven. It was the Mustangs fourth straight win in as many starts and SF State's initial loss after wins over Cal Tech and Moffett Field.

Two Poly backs, Alex "Boom Boom" Bravo and liittle Terry Jeter played havoc with the Gator defenses all evening. Bravo, 180 pound little All Coast halfback smashed out 147 yards behind a hard charging Cal Poly wall, while Jeter was in on three long gainers, two of which resulted in touchdowns.

Jeter, a 155 pound scooter, sprinted 75 yards to complete an 87 yard pass scoring play, dashed 65 yards off tackle on another shot, and set up another Cal Poly TD with a 48 yard punt return. All told, Poly ran a net of 392 yards.

Maury Duncan, State's strongest weapon, worked his arm overtime and threw 35 times. completing 17 for 260 yards and one TD.

State scrapped to the finish, but was never in the contest thereafter, although it managed to scrape up another score in the fourth period when Walt Bremond climaxed a 39 yard drive with a six yard smash over center.

Score by quarters:

S.F. State	7	0	0	7	—14
Cal Poly	14	13	0	19	—46

Brand-new national survey shows college students prefer Luckies

Last year a survey was made in leading colleges throughout the country which showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette. This year another nation-wide survey was made—a representative survey of all students in regular colleges coast to coast. Based on thousands of actual student interviews—this survey shows that, as last year, Luckies lead again—lead over all other brands, regular or king-size—and by a wide margin! The reason: Luckies taste better.

GATORS BATTLE WITH CHICO

Full Schedule Sets Pace In New League Debut

Basketball season, 1953 style, is just around the corner, and according to Coach Dan Farmer, the Purple and Gold should enjoy one of its better seasons. Soon the cagers will be in the gym practicing for their 25 game schedule. This basketball season, the lid flies off the newly revised Far Western Conference, and State will meet such foes as Cal Aggies, Humboldt State, Sacramento State, Chico State, and Nevada.

An important meeting of all prospective varsity and JV players will be held on Wednesday, October 23 at noon in gym 5. This meeting will be mainly for the purpose of signing up. Actual practice starts November 2 in the men's gym at 3:30.

Open positions are plentiful this year, and Coach Farmer is looking for material. State was hit hard by graduation as three first stringers, Charles Miller, Jim Green, and Vic Gipson are gone. Jim Mosely, a second stringer of last season is also gone.

The prospects for this season are quite good, however. Coach Farmer spoke with an air of hopefulness when he commented, "I think that this is going to be one of our better seasons, if all the men I have are eligible. I have a crop of 20 incoming freshmen, which is the largest ever, and I would like to extend an invitation to all those who wish to play varsity or JV's to come to the meeting."

State's hopes for a successful season will be brightened by the return of Bob Liebe. Bob played for State during their 1950-51 Far Western Conference championship campaign. He has returned from two years in Japan.

The Gators' 1953 schedule is:

Nov. 27—Alameda Coast Guard at San Francisco.

It was typical of Maury Duncan, State perennial passing perfectionist, to be chosen the most outstanding player in a game which his team lost 46-14.

Duncan was far and away the big man in what little attack State could muster last Friday night against Cal Poly. The Duncan detonator was unlimbered with astonishing success, as Maury proved once and for all he is no flash in the pan, but a legitimate candidate for Little All-America honors.

When Maury threw for 176 yards, even though playing less than half the game, against an inferior Cal Tech team, people shrugged, it was expected. When Duncan passed a wet ball for 182 yards against a tough, rugged Moffett Field eleven, fans took it for granted. But last Friday night, the quiet senior from Berkeley outdid himself.

Against a powerhouse Cal Poly team that has been likened to some of the smaller Coast Conference clubs, against a team that has crushed good Fresno State and Santa Barbara squads, and against a team that kept continual pressure on him with rushing tactics and good coverage of receivers, Duncan proved his mettle by completing 17 out of 35 passes for 260 yards and one touchdown. What was even more amazing was that Duncan, throwing to men of whom the biggest starter is only 5 foot 11 inches, had only one pass intercepted.

Not only did Maury pass well, he also punted for a 35.8 average, kicked both conversions and played capably on defense.

Duncan showed something on the field that will eventually make him the Little-All American he is being boosted for. He was no front runner. When things were going bad for State, that was when Maury was at his best.

'Cats Opponents In Comeback Try

By DAVE KRUG

The Golden Tide invades Chico, tomorrow night, where they will try to tame the Chico State Wildcats. Having suffered their first defeat of the season at the hands of Cal Poly last week, the Gators hope to bounce back onto the win path. Although they have a good chance of doing this, the home team, Chico, will be out to avenge last year's 39-19 setack at the hands of the San Franciscans.

Chico, to date, has played four games, winning three of them. San Francisco State, had won two contests before dropping last Friday's tilt. The two traditional rivals, Chico and SFS, have actually met one common opponent, although the Gators only scrimmaged Presidio, where as the Wildcats met that team in an official game. The scores of the two contests were very close, State defeating the Soldiers 19-0, while Chico pinned a 14-0 loss on the military men.

DOWN CAL AGGIES

Besides their victory over Presidio, the Red and White has downed Cal Aggies, 14-7; Treasure Island 14-7; and lost to Nevada 27-7.

Tomorrow night's clash promises to be a real thriller. A prediction, in a meeting such as this, would be virtually useless as both teams are similar in potency, and both will be after the other's throat. The team that fights the hardest and gets the best breaks will come out the winner.

THREE QUARTERBACKS

At the quarterback spot, the Cats feature three men of equal ability. These backs are Moe Williams, Hal Higgins, and Don Ray. Although State considers Maury Duncan superior to anybody from Chico, he is only one man.

The entire Chico backfield is very tricky and agile. What they lack in power, they make up in deception, A noticeable difference in the two backfields is in the height of the players. State's "shorties" will be matched against a rather tall backfield.

The Red and White is a very quick moving team. They get their plays off quickly, and their speedy backs move towards the opponents goal line in a hurry. Bob Gloyd is perhaps the most agile of all their backs. Against Cal Aggies, Gloyd romped 55 yards for a touchdown on a quick opener.

Although the Chico backfield is not huge, the line averages 200 pounds. The Wildcats charge hard and fast. Except for the two guard spots, which are filled by two aggressive freshmen, the line is experienced. Norm MacKenzie of Oroville and George Maderos of Chico hold down the end positions. Both boys are quite adept at snagging passes, and they can both block well.

Against the Chico defense, such Gators as Rudy Smith, Harry Bremond, and Rich Nave should be able to get off some fine runs of their own. S.F. State will rely largely upon these men to try to ruin the Wildcat's homecoming.

MY SIDE

By KEITH PINCKNEY

WE COULD HAVE USED HER LAST FRIDAY . . .

Two years ago, as part of a publicity stunt, Nancy K. Meloy of the United States Navy was photographed with football coach Joe Verducci. The gag shot showed the lovely Nancy assisting the Gator coach in their preparation for a contest against the Pepperdine College Waves. Now the former Wave has left the Waves, and no longes wishing any part of publicity for the Pepperdine Waves, has enrolled this semester at San Francisco State.

WELL, ANYWAY, THEY MISSED THREE PAT'S . . .

The apparently inexhaustible supply of hard-charging backs trotted out on the field last Friday by Cal Poly proved too much for the Gators. Despite S.F. State's passing, made successful by Maury (The Magician) Duncan who passed for 260 yards and one touchdown, and completed 17 of 35 tosses, the Gator offensive could not seem to catch hold, and time after time, the outweighed S.F. State linemen were pushed around, while the Mustang backs made yardage.

100,000 DOLLARS WORTH OF FRESHMAN . . .

Ed Cereghino, who entered professional baseball from Jefferson High in Daly City, on the receiving end of a one-hundred-thousand dollar bonus is registered at San Francisco State as a freshman. Cereghino pitched the apple for Kansas City in the American Association last season. The Blues are one of the top farm club in the vast New York Yankee chain. The big pitcher should find P.E. 1.1 within his capabilities.

CRAZY EDITOR!! . . .

A sports editor running with the Gator cross-country squad may have been responsible for S.F. State's loss in last Friday's tri-meet. Some guy by the name of Keith Pinckney was nuts enough to don a track uniform and attempt the four-mile course skirting Lake Merced.

He finished last in a field of 22, 15 minutes behind the next-to-the-last man. Worried officials for the contest sent out a car to look for him, but found the erstwhile athlete plodding along approximately one-fifth of a mile from the finish. They allowed him to finish under his own power. Never again Maw.

FOURTH QUARTER SWITCH . . .

Coach Joe Verducci of the Gators yanked his first string in the closing minutes of the Cal Poly contest. With Maury Duncan playing his final season with the Gators, Verducci apparently wanted to give whatever men he has in mind to fill "The Magician's" shoes, some valuable game experience. They need it. Chico State at Chico tomorrow, be there.

Cross Country Team Downed in Tri-Meet

Cal Poly dropped Modesto JC and SF State 27-43½-48½ in a cross country meet last Friday afternoon at the new campus.

Although Jim Shettler, S.F. State mile record holder, toured the 3.4 mile Lake Merced layout in the excellent time of 16:58.4 Cal Poly's depth proved fatal to the Gators.

Jim Reed was the first man in for the Mustangs with a time of 18:08.3. He was closely followed by three of his teammates.

Walt Boehm, State graduate student running unattached, set the new course record with a time of 16:34.6.

The Gators, who are undertaking the roughest schedule in the school's history, meet the undefeated San Jose Spartans next Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. on the Spartans home course.

Last Friday's results:

1. Boehm, unn, 16:36.3.
2. Shettler, SFS, 16:58.4.
3. Reed, CP, 18:08.
4. Page, CP, 18:20.
5. Scarobrough, 18:21.
6. Gleason, M, 18:21.
7. Bess, M, 18:24.
8. Fairbanks, SFS, 19:09.
9. Hisling, CP,19:19.
10. Holmes, CP, 19:19.
19. Pinckney, SFS, 36:15.5.

STYLE SERVICE IS GUIDE TO STUDENT CAMPUS FASHION

By JAMES KEOLKER

One of the campus' most deserving organizations is being heralded this week for its contributions to the welfare of one of the best-dressed, best-groomed student bodies on the coast. That organization is known as the Style Service.

Designed to aid the student in living within the limited budget, in learning the importance of good grooming, and in the planning and purchasing of clothing, the Style Service has helped to maintain high standards of student body living.

The Service was founded in 1949 by Miss Evelyn Erickson, State associate professor of Art, who maintains "We feel now as we did then, that colleges are in great need of this kind of guidance. In the light of higher prices and the importance of appearance in ratio to education and employment, we can well say the Service can be of great aid."

HELP AND ADVICE GIVEN

Although the Service is open to the entire student body, the student that is limited to the small budget is the most welcomed of all. Men have also been specially encouraged to use the Service. "This is not a women's Service in fashion design," stated Aileen Kelly, assistant and consultant. "We are here to help advise all students and their ever-increasing problems of good appearance on a small income."

The popularity of the Service can be witnessed by some startling figures. In the Spring of 1952, during the Service's long and tedious move to the new campus, 67 full consultations were given. In the Fall semester of 1952 some 165 additional consultations were extended giving the 1952-53 year a total of 232 student consultations. In addition Miss Erickson extends the work by giving talks to classes and clubs.

PROBLEMS

The average student problem is one of color; what colors should be worn in regards to complexion, hair, eyes, personality, figure, occasion, etc. Men's questions on the whole, are more practical than women's, often inquiring as to the cost and durability of fabrics for student teaching, merchandising and other types of college employment. The woman's common interest is one of hair styles and ways to appear slimmer. "Even though they may have perfect figures," states Aileen Kelly, "nine out of ten girls believe they are overweight. The school is exceedingly weight conscious."

The Style Service is located in room 107 of the Visual Arts and Industries building, and is open Monday through Friday from 11:30 to 1:30, and at other hours by appointment.

Campus Style Hints

Careful self-analysis and well organized planning of your wardrobe should be the criteria for your approach to dress. This personal analysis and orderly planning attains not only a smart ensemble, but results also in important economics.

Try to be objective in your analysis, remembering that good grooming and cleanliness are also essential parts of being properly dressed.

SIMPLICITY OF LINE

Dress to type according to height, weight distribution, body structure and the contours of your face and head, plus your personality and the color of your skin, hair, and eyes. Begin by focusing attention on your best features and minimizing the less attractive qualities. This may be acquired by simplicity of line in the design and silhouette of the garments as well as proper use of texture in fabrics.

Color and durability of fabrics play an important part in the economy of a wardrobe. Consider fabrics that may be laundered or are able to withstand cleaning with a minimum of fading, shrinkage, and wear.

Neutral colors used as the basic colors for suits, slacks, skirts, dresses and coats lessen the number of garments needed. These are inter-changeable with jackets, blouses, coats and sweaters.

COUNT ACCESSORIES

Accessories may be used as color accents if they are used with an economy of color and effectively placed. Over accessorizing and numerous colors strike a confused and discordant note. Count your costume colors and accessories in buttons, jewelry, belts, textures and prints in scarfs and ties.

Good wardrobe planning is also built on a functional pattern, such as suitability for the job, school or social needs. Economy wise this includes adapting current fashion trends to personal styling which prolongs the life of your wardrobe.

Personal analysis and good planning in your approach to dress promotes self confidence and presents you at your best, a well organized and integrated person.

SOCIAL PROBLEM

"Three days a week I look into those beautiful eyes of hers. She always smiles a little, but I never say anything."

This is the urgent problem of one of our students from Hong Kong. Three times a week for the past year he has stood near a Chinese girl on a street corner while the two waited for a bus. As yet, they have not spoken to each other.

"The trouble is," says the Chinese Stater, "in my home country young people have to wait for a formal introduction. So how can I ever meet the girl with the beautiful eyes?"

Good question. Any answers?

NO WOMEN

One of the boys from Iraq is also disturbed. An orthodox Moslem, he follows the dictum of the Koran. The faithful are told that during the month of Ramadan (a lunar month which varies) a man must not approach a woman.

"I can't skip my classes," wails the man from Iraq, and "I can't sit next to the girls! I hope that my instructors understand."

By the way, most drug stores are now selling the first pocket-book edition of the Koran in English, the Bible of much of the eastern world. Fascinating reading for only 50 cents.

PHILLIPPINES

Nearly 300 overseas students from 42 countries are now enrolled at State. Actually, that's a better cross-section of the world than is represented by the UN.

Record holder for all countries on campus is the Phillippines, with 77 students. China is second with 31, and Iran third with 26.

Ranking high in numbers are also Japan, Jordan and Italy, in that order.

Class Tours East Bay Oil Refinery

Thirty-three members of Mr. York T. Mandra's geology class were guests of the Standard Oil Company of California on an all-day field trip Tuesday, October 6.

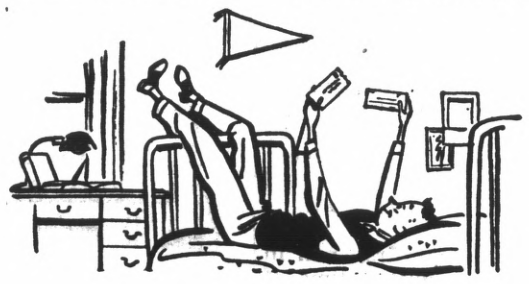

The class was picked up at the old campus by special bus and transported to the grounds of the California Research Corporation where the morning was taken up with a tour of the laboratories.

After lunch in the Standard Oil dining room, the class was conducted on a tour of the refinery, where the process of breaking petroleum down to its many commercial products was described by guides.

These field trips to the Richmond plant, an important part of the geology course, are furnished as a courtesy to the students by the Standard Oil Company and the classes are guests of the company from the time they leave in the morning until they return in the evening.
